DESCRIPTION

The same goes for this Wabi-Sabi Grain pendant lamp. The illogical shape and special materials form this somewhat postmodern creation. It looks like a pottery bowl. Without conspicuous finishes, the Beige can better highlight the texture on its surface, setting off its texture. You might think of it as a cement chandelier, but this is made of lightweight resin and polystyrene material, and even a large size won't be very heavy. Therefore, you don't have to worry about any safety issues hanging from the ceiling.
